

Arthur Sze is the twenty-fifth Poet Laureate of the United States and a celebrated editor and translator. He has authored twelve collections of poetry, most recently Into the Hush (2025); The Glass Constellation (2021), winner of the 2024 National Book Foundation Science + Literature Prize; and Sight Lines (2019), recipient of the National Book Award. Further honors include the Bollingen Prize for Lifetime Achievement for American Poetry, a Ruth Lilly Poetry Prize, and the Shelley Memorial Award. Sze lives with his wife, the poet Carol Moldaw, in Santa Fe, where he served as the city's first poet laureate.